Attorney Lee Ross, representing the cement company, stated that he was sorry that the matter had broken at this time as the apparatus being installed by the company for the prevention of this smoke would be completed within two weeks. The secretary and vice-president of the company were also present and told of the efforts which were being made in order to obviate this nuisance.

Attorney Reddington stated that as this smoke or dust was a positive nuisance to a large territory, he thought that the plant should be forced to close down in whole or in part so that the objectionable smoke would not be noticable until after the process for its elimination should be completed. The vice-president of the company said that the plant was only operating at about one-third capacity at present in an effort to eliminate this objection, and that the manager had orders to shut down whenever the wind turned to the north.

The board did not feel that the plant should be shut down entirely for the ten days in which the apparatus for preventing the smoke would be installed, but put the matter over for one week. They will have a report from residents of the afflicted territory at that time and if the nuisance continues to be as bad, may require the plant to cease opperations at that time. If not the matter will be dropped. Both officials of the cement company assured the board and the protesting citizens that every effort was being made to prevet the objectionable fumes.

SAN MATEO BURGLAR HEADS S. J. JAIL BREAK

Heading one of the most sensational jail breaks in the history of that county, "Red" McCarthy of San Mateo broke from the jail of Santa Clara county at San Jose and with three companions effected an escape. The four men, it is thought, were given assistance from the outside, as the break was made by means of a hack saw with which the bars of their cell were sawed through.

McCarthy, who is believed to have had some part in the robbery of the Broadway branch of the Bank of Burlingame several months ago, was arrested by Police Chief John J. Harper in Burlingame after he was recognized from a circular sent out by Sheriff George W. Lyle of Santa Clara county. McCarthy, wanted for the robbery of the bank at Sunnyvale, was brought into the Burlingame police station following an accident on the highway when he was alleged to have struck another machine and refused to stop, when Chief Harper made the indentification. He was immediately locked up and turned over to Sheriff Lyle.

Believed to have been implicated in several bank robberies and hold-ups on the peninsula, McCarthy is regarded as a dangerous man in police circles and every precaution will be taken to recapture him.

As it is thought that the saw was obtained from some accomplice, a check is being made of every one who has visited the men during the past month. Meanwhile all avenues are being watched in an effort to apprehend the four men.

A LOAN OF LANDSCAPE

"Neither a borrower or a lender be" advised wise old Appalonius, but our neighboring towns do not seem to have grasped his meaning, for we notice this week an example of borrowing quite without precedent. We see that Burlingame with plenty of pleasant vistas of her own must borrow a landscape from Redwood City once in a while.

BAREFOOT BURGLAR MAY BE MAN JAILED IN CAPITAL

That there is a possibility that the burglar who has entered a number of homes along the peninsula from Burlingame to Palo Alto may be one of two men arrested in Sacramento this week, is expressed by county police officials who have been searching for this criminal. This particular burglar has become well known for his methods of proceedure. He always enters a house barefooted and takes money or clothes. Jewelry he apparently does not care for, as in all instances he has left it untouched.

With the arrest of the men in Sacramento this week there were found several suits of men's clothing a radio and some women's apparel. A radio is reported to have been taken in one of the raids of the prowler in Hillsborough. The coincidence of the articles found has lead to the theory that this may be the man. The case will be investigated.

HUNDREDS ATTEND BIG DRUDS FESTIVAL HERE

Hundreds of visitors came to Redwood City Sunday to attend the big initiation and program by Morvin Grove, United Ancient Order of Druids. Visitors were from all parts of the state. The visitors, grand officers of the order and the members of the local grove gathered previous to the initiation, in a great street parade, which formed on Main street and marched along Main and Broadway.

Hundreds of Druids marched in this parade following a long line of automobiles in which rode the grand officers and the wives of the members. The cars were decorated in green, red and yellow, the Druid colors.

Preparations for the great event had been made by M. E. Oliver, chairman of the committee from the local grove in charge of the affair. So well were the arrangements made that Oliver was presented with an emblem of the order by the grand officers, in token of their appreciation of the work he had done. The other members of the committee were Fred Hendricks, Tony Bertolucci and Frank Garcia.

The Foresters hall, where the initiation took place was over crowded, about six hundred Druids being present. The iniation was followed by a banquet served in the Civic Auditorium by a committee of the Redwood Circle of Druidesses of which Mrs. Rose Casaretto was chairman.

GANGSTERS ARE ARRAIGNED, AUGUST 24 SET FOR HEARING

Men Who Attacked, Beat and Robbed San Francisco Woman, Held at County Jail for $50,000 Cash Bail

A search which had been conducted by the sheriff's office of this county and the San Francisco police department for about a week ended Monday with the arrest of five men and a woman, charged with an attack on a San Francisco woman and with robbery. The alleged attack is said to have taken place at Brighton beach in this county, whither the woman was brought in a car driven by one of the arrested gangsters.

The story as told by the woman, Mrs. Emma Skellenger of Nineteentn and Mission streets, San Francisco, was as follows: Mrs. Skellenger had been to visit some friends on an evening of last week, and was waiting on the corner of Gough and Market streets for a jitney bus to take her home. A car approached. In it were four men and a woman. The car stopped, and Mrs. Skellenger, thinking it to be the bus for which she was waiting, got in and had gone several blocks before she found that anything was wrong. When the bus failed to turn down Valencia street, she asked where it was going, and was informed by the other woman that they were going "joy riding."

Mrs. Skellenger demanded to be let out, and was seized and held by two of the men. The car continued its course and turned off the highway and onto the coast road at Colma

When near Brighton Beach Inn, Mrs. Skellenger says, the four men dragged her out of the machine, dragged her by the feet for a distance along the road, attacked and beat her. She was then left unconscious by the side of the road with her clothes torn from her. Her assailants took her jewels, valued at $300, she says, including a pair of diamond ear rings and some rings.

After she had regained consciousness, Mrs. Skellenger states, another man came and attacked her. Later Angelo Chappano of Brighton Beach, who has been sought for some time by the sheriff's office for posing as a deputy sheriff in the northern part of the county, took Mrs. Skellenger as far as Colma from whence she was able to regain her home.

Mrs. Skellenger came to Redwood City Monday and told her story to the sheriff and district attorney of this county, and confronted six of the gang and the woman who were arrested Monday. A seventh member of the gang, Al Crabbe, was arrested later Monday. Those arrested first were George Piexatto, Joseph Chio, Stanley Fletcher, Charles Spiro, John Garabaldi and Al. Chappano and Miss Alma Thorne.

The men were confined seperately at the county jail and were taken into seperat conferences with the district attorney, sheriff and complaining witness, Mrs. Skellenger. Practically all confessed their implication in the affair.

The details revealed to the officers in the questioning have shown the case to be as bad as that of the notorious Howard Street Gang which lead to the lynching of three men in Santa Rosa several years ago, according to the small part of the evidence which has been revealed.

Mrs. Skellenger is 24 years of age and is the wife of a truck driver of San Francisco, and the mother of a young child. She was still suffering from the treatment she had received when here on Monday.

Two of the defendants are already known to the officers of this county who had arrested Fletcher and the Thorne woman following a wreck on the highway on July 10, when Fletcher while driving while intoxicated the car of his former employer, Irving Ackerman, ran into another car.

Miss Thorne, who it is believed, was in no way connected with the present case, but was merely out in bad company, was released on instructions by the distrfct attorney. It is thought that she will be an important witness in the trial. The others were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Ray Griffin yesterday and will be given a preliminary hearing on August 24 at 1:30 o'clock. This hearing will be behind locked doors because of the nature of the charges involved.

WHAT THE TOWN IS

WHAT is a town? Is it a number of persons living within a certain radius, each living his life with little or no thought about the man who lives next to him? Or does the word town signify more than mere residents in a certain place? If by town we mean anything, we must mean that feeling of neighborhood relation which binds one to another; that source of interpendence which makes the well-being of each member of a community an integral part of the well-being of the whole group. This is what we like to think of as our town. Not its houses, streets or even its people, but the community interests which bind these people together in one bond of harmony.

It is this bond; this community feeling which has been behind all development. It is but another name for community pride, that force which is ever at work in the beautification of every town. It is but another form of that great patriotism which makes one country in all the world stand out apart from all the rest as "My Country." It is the great incentive to home building and town building.

Find a town where the love of the home town is strong in its people and you will find that it is prosperous, whose residents have a pride in their homes and in their country. Find a town where community feeling does not exist and you will find a community of knockers, men who buy from anyone rather than the home-town merchant, who belittle every effort for advancement, who do not read the home-town paper, and whose merchants do not advertise.

Community interest is the leaven which raises towns from villages. It makes the business of your neighbor as vital almost as your own, because his failure would injure the town, his success would add to its prosperity. It makes the purchase of goods in another town which may be bought at home an offense against the public good. It binds man to man within the community, it makes the interest of one the interest of all and results in prosperity.

DEEPENING THE HARBOR

REDWOOD CITY will have a harbor, there is little doubt of that now. At a meeting Wednesday evening a few parties interested in the plan subscribed more than $1000 within a few minutes. This sum will be given to the Town of Redwood City and used for the purpose of having a complete survey made and placed before the United States War Department engineers.

This survey, however, will be but the first step in a great development campaign which should make available thousands of acres of marsh land which is at present of little or no value, for manufacturing plants, warehouses and other profitable businesses. The first step must be taken, however, and the ready subscription of funds for the purpose pressages a successful campaign later on.

Future development of Redwood City and its adjacent territory will depend upon the amount of foresight and energy which is put into these plans now The future will demand that not only shall the harbor be deepened, but the wharves, docks, warehouses and other inducements for trade be built. Only when Redwood City can take a big, broad vision of these matters will it be able to compete with towns on other parts of the bay which have had a wonderful development within the past few years.

Right now the survey is the most necessary thing for our harbor development. But even now we must think beyond the survey, beyond the deepened harbor and realize the needs of our future development.

THE KLAN'S ENEMIES

"BLESSED ARE THE PEACEMAKERS" says the Bible, but what is to be the fate of those who breed hatred and disorder we can only conjecture. We have seen this week signs of a great organization which would plant hatred in the hearts of the people of this country, and would foster persecution and biggotry, instead of advancing the cause of peace. Such an organization can but fail in its efforts and bring discredit upon its own members.

At the convention of this organization in Washington speeches denouncing Catholics, Jews, Negroes, newspapers and scientists were made. Quite a formidable array of contestants. The very differences in its foes will be the weakness of the Klan. An organization which can classify together hetrogeniously Catholocism, a religion; Negroes and Jews, races; the newspapers, a profession; and scientists, leaders in the nation's thought, will find that the while they might succeed for a time in inflaming public thought against a race, a religion or a profession cannot at one and the same time successfully wage a war on all of these various facets of human thought.

A force which seeks to persecute a man because he happens to be born of a different race or color than its members, and which cites the Bible to justify its stand, commits blasphemy, and shows itself an imposter. Nor should a man's religious beliefs be made the concern of any other individual or organization so long as they are not harmful to his neighbors. Toleration and brotherly love as taught in the Bible are utterly at variance with the doctrine of hate and persecution advocated by the Klan. And by their attack on science and scientists indiscriminately the Klan has shown its caliber and its biggotry.

MORENO, PATSY RUTH MILLER AND BIG CAST IN "HER HUSBAND'S SECRET"

"Her Husband's Secret," which Frank Lloyd has picturized from May Edginton's recent Saturday Evening Post story, "Judgment," has been announced as the next First National attraction at the Sequoia Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, August 19 and 20.

Antonio Moreno, Patsy Ruth Miller, Ruth Clifford and David Torrence are the featured players, and others prominent in the supporting cast are Walter McGrail, Frankie Darro, Phyllis Haver, Joseph Girad, Pauline Neff, Margaret Fielding, Robert Bolder, E. A. Marren and Frank Coffyn.

Moreno essays the role of a debonair young man who, after amassing considerable of a fortune by fraudulent methods loses it. He then elopes with the daughter of a wealthy banker in an effort to extricate himself from his trouble.

Miss Miller, who plays Judy Brewster, has the role of the daughter, and Miss Clifford, whose Ann Rutledge in "Abraham Lincoln" plays a dual part of a bride and then as the mother of the wayward youth.

David Torrence, brother of Ernest, gives to his characterization of Ross Brewster, hard-fisted banker, much of the same understanding and sympathy given a similar character in "Smilin' Through."

"BEGGAR ON HORSEBACK" BIGGER THAN ANY CAST

The Story's the Thing in James Cruze's Paramount Production

The new James Cruze-Paramount production, "Beggar on Horseback," which is the feature at the Sequoia Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, August 17 and 18, is described as a story bigger than any cast, just as was "The Covered Wagon," in which the cast wasn't even a talking point. "The Covered Wagon" was essentially a story, and in the telling of the story names that were destined to become famous on the screen were created. So with "Beggar on Horseback," made by the same director.

"Beggar on Horseback" is the story of a young musical genius sought by two girls, one rich, one poor, and deals largely with a dream he has in which the ordinary affairs of life are magnified to ridiculous proportions. Some idea of the extent of the production is gained from the announcement that one complete stage at the Famous Players-Lasky studios in Hollywood was devoted to a single room.

The original stage play was by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly, who dramatized "Merton of the Movies" and countless other successes. Walter Woods wrote the screen adaptations.

Edward Horton and Esther Ralston, who played Mrs. Darling in "Peter Pan," are featured in the leading roles of the production. Miss Ralston has the role of Cynthia Mason, and Gertrude Short plays Gladys Cady, the other girl who participates with Horton in the fantastic adventures which compose his dream, which constitutes one of the most amazing adventures ever screened.

Others playing in support are Ethel Wales, James Mason and Erwin Connelly.

Out on the edge of the desert a rancher owned a popular-priced car, which he had painted white. He entered a near-by village one day, slightly madder than a wet hen.

"No!" he snorted. "As I was drivin' in to town some blame' tenderfoot hunters mistook it for a jackrabbit."—American Legion Weekly.

New Idea in Spectacles

No longer need a clothing store salesman take a suit to the window to show the prospective customer the effect in daylight, or even turn on a special light, says a note from Science Service. Instead, he will soon be able to hand the customer a pair of daylight spectacles, which have been invented by Dr. Hermann Weiss of Vienna. Already they have come into wide use in laboratories in the textile, paper and dye industries, where it is often necessary to judge the color of solutions. They are of blue glass, which absorbs some of the yellow rays in which the ordinary incandescent lamp is rich, but which are not present in such abundance in sunlight.

Tragic Ending

Augustus Thomas, the famous playwright, said at a dinner at the Hotel Astor in New York:

"Producers claim that only the plays with happy endings can succeed. But no play has a happy ending."

His hearers looked at Mr. Thomas in amazement.

"No play has a happy ending," he repeated. "On the contrary, it runs on and on, and at last it ends tragically in some one-horse town, with the entire road company stranded and nary the price of a box stew amongst the lot of them."

RUM BOAT SEIZED NEAR PESCADERO

While attempting to load a cargo of booze on the shore at Pescadero Tuesday the rum runner Gussie M. was surprised and captured by a government boat. The boat was found to be in the possession of two men, Hiram Backer and one called Bill Hyland.

The Gussie M. was taken in tow by the government cutter and enroute to the government station in San Francisco, when passing near Black Rock at Fort Mason, the man called Hyland managed to escape from the ropes which held him, and with his hands still tied, jumped overboard.

Under questioning by federal authorities in San Francisco Backer refused to divulge the name of the ship from which he obtained the cargo which he was landing and would give no information concerning the man who escaped. He stated that his name is Hyland, but the name is thought to be ficticious.

It is thought that in spite of the fact that the hands of the escaped rum runner were tied that he managed to reach the shore and is now in hiding in this county. A sharp lookout is being kept for him here The value of the liquor confiscated on the Gussie M. is said to be $15,000.

Steamers Replace Junks

The passing of the man-drawn "rickshaws" of the Orient is being followed by the gradual disappearance of the junks from the crowded rivers. Light-draft steamboats, mostly of American design, are being put on the great interior waterways. For centuries the yellow rivers of China have known nothing of transportation power other than lateen sail, oars and sweeps handled by hundreds of coolies slowly dragging the vessels up the gorges of the swift-running streams. The Yangtse river alone in 1920 had 18,700 junks operating on its thousands of miles of soft-colored meandering.

The change at times has created illfeeling on the part of the junk operators because large crews of coolies are thrown out of jobs every time a steamboat is bought to replace junks.—Reboboth Sunday Herald.

VISITACION VALLEY WORK HELD UP

Te paving of Wallbridge street and other streets in Visitacion Valley was temporarily halted last Monday by an action of the board of supervisors in rejecting all bids. Plans and specifications had been accepted and bids had been advertised for, received and opened. At this meeting, however, a petition was received from a number of property owners of the district asking that the type of pavement be changed.

Upon a motion by Supervisor Hickey which was seconded by Supervisor Brown the former bids were ordered rejected and County Engineer George Kneese was instructed to prepare new plans and specifications. A representative of the firm having the lowest bid was present and objected to this action of the board. The motion was passed, however, and the bids were rejected.

Justice Not Satisfied

In a Maine town not long ago the champion local liar was brought before the justice of the peace for stealing a hen. It was a pretty plain case, and, on the advice of his lawyer, the prisoner decided not to argue about it. "I plead guilty, judge," he said. The justice was staggered; he had been prepared for a long and involved chain of lies. "Hiram," he said, after a moment, "I guess I'll have to have more evidence before I sentence you."

WILL FORD CARS BE DEVILIVERED BY AEROPLANES?

Will the thirty-five Ford branches in the United States eventually distribute Ford cars and trucks by Ford air transportation to their 52,000 authorized sales and service dealers?

Some of our readers will perhaps think that it requires a great deal of imagination to visualize, as a reality, air shipments of Ford cars, anyhow. It was only the other day that the Ford Motor Company actually shipped a Ford runabout "knocked down" from its Detroit factory to Cleveland. It was the first time a complete automobile ever was transported by air.

The plane participating in this feature was the second Ford airplane, the Maiden Dearborn 11, inaugurating the Detroit-Cleveland line of Ford Air Transport Service.

The Ford plane landed on the new Cleveland Municipal Airport, and according to advice by W. H. Goodwin at the Ford headquarters in San Francisco, as soon as it landed mechanics from the Cleveland branch of the Ford Motor Company began unloading the parts and within an hour the Ford car was fully assembled, right on the grounds, and was then driven off the platform by W. B. Mayo, chief engineer of the Ford Company, who had his passenger, W. R. Hopkins, city manager of Cleveland.

The Ford Air Service is now in daily operation between Detroit and Cleveland as well as between Detroit and Chicago. And so, it may not be long until the Ford will be distributed by air transportation. Anyhow, who knows? Then, too, suppose there are in years to come over ten million Ford planes instead of the ten million Ford cars now on the highways of this country. What then?

Ariadne

Ariadne, the daughter of Leo I, was married to Zeno, who succeeded as emperor of the east in A. D. 474. She was so disgusted with the intemperance of her husband and so much in love with Anastasius, a man of obscure origin, that she shut Zeno, when intoxicated, into a sepulcher, where he was left to die, and her favorite, Anastasius, was placed on the throne. Her death took place in the year 515.—Chicago Journal.

News From Neighboring Towns

East Palo Alto Folks and Events

The East Palo Alto Progressive Club met in the school auditorium Tuesday evening and voted a campaign against the poison oak in the community. Every year there are those who suffer from the poison for weeks and the co-operation of everyone would soon remove the menace. There has been splendid co-operation in getting the dangerous corners cleared of shrubbery. A suggestion was made that every family hold a conference in their home discussing what to do first and how to act to save the most valuable possessions in case of the sudden discovery of fire.

Joseph C. Dickey of the Mosquito Abatement Committee, explained by letter that the unusual number of mosquitoes this year was due to their coming from the Alameda side of the bay, where there is no abatement district, and where they are exceptionally bad this year. The territory along the marshes is being well taken care of on this side and trips are made into this community three times a week—even the dairy yards are being cared for.

The need of cutting down weeds was again emphasized. The horticultural commissioner stated that all owners should be notified if they are non-residents. Weeds are seeding the colony in many places and immediate action should be taken by every owner to protect his own soil.

An apron booth was decided upon to help the proposed swimming pool at the veterans' hospital in the carnival being arranged by the Runnymede Woman's Club to given this fall.

A committee consisting of Miss Mary Wilkin, Mrs. F. C. Nickerson and Warren Huffman was apointed to see what colony produce might be available for the San Mateo county booth at the State Fair.

A letter was authorized sent to the P. G. & E. regarding the placing of an electric pole in a dangerous place on Woodland avenue.

After the business session a social time and watermelon party was held.

Two one-act plays, "The Wonder Hat" and "A night at an Inn" will be presented in the Ryanswood school auditorium by a group of young people for the benefit of the proposed swimming pool at the veterans' hospital on Saturday evening, August 22nd. Admission will be 25 cents.

EXTREME CARE IN THE TELEPHONE DIRECTORY

"To most people the telephone directory is merely a place to find telephone numbers and addresses. Few people take into consideration the immense amount of detail and labor involved in the preparation of this book," said J. D. Worthington, manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company.

"The work in a directory unit requires extreme care and accuracy. The alphabeting of listings in the telephone directory is probably the biggest "alphabeting" problem in the world, taken from a system wide view point.

"The printer's copy is prepared on what are known as "Ad" sheets, on which the listing as it is to appear in the detail supplementary directory is typewritten. After the "Ad" sheets have been typed, they are checked for accuracy and then forwarded to the printer. A manuscript is also maintained which is made up from the printed listings cut from the page proofs of the last issued directory one column being pasted on each manuscript and are alphabetically arranged. Changes in telephone numbers or addresses on the printed page are also kept on this manuscript. The work in the directory unit involves the checking of each listing six separate times for accuracy. A great amount of work and detail in conection with the compilation and printing of the directories can be partially seen when you stop to think that there were over one hundred and thirty thousand additions and changes made in the printer's copy of a San Francisco and Bay Counties directory in the six months period.

"The book goes to the printer and a copper plate, the most expensive plate used in printing, is prepared for each page. It is necessary to use copper for the lead alley of which the common type is made does not stand up and make as many impressions as are necessary to produce the directory. The book is printed in "signatures" which comprise four, eight and sixteen or thirty-two pages. These are assembled in their order and go through a binding machine. The backs of these "signatures" are cut by a revolving knife and the book then consists of single leaves held together. This is done so that when the book is finally bound it will open flat. Metal saws, with tiny teeth, roughen the backs so that when the glue is placed thereon the leaves will hold together. The cover is put on the books and a hole is bored in the corner, completing the directory and making it ready for distribution.

"The delivery of the directory is itself a big job. The books are delivered by groups of men who are provided with delivery cards on which are shown the name and address and the number of books which he is to receive. House-to-house routes are followed. Upon delivery of the new book the old issue is collected to be removed from circulation. The old books are collected in order to eliminate confusion in the use of obselete or wrong numbers, thereby maintaining the high standard of telephone service."

How She Knew

The fond husband was dressed and waiting for his wife. He stopped pacing back and forth long enough to inquire: "Plenty of time? And just how do you know we have plenty of time?" His wife calmly applied the powder and answered: "Of course we have. As to how I know, that's simple. You haven't started to swear yet, have you?"

PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY — COURTEOUS CONTINUOUS SERVICE

Regulate the flame for greater efficiency

PROPER adjustment of the burners on your range, or other appliances, will result in material economies.

For best efficiency the tip of the flame on your gas range should just touch the bottom of the utensil, while in the Gas Water Heater the flame should touch the bottom ring of the coil.

Your Gas flame should consist of sharp and distinct blue cones with purple edges. Yellow or white flames are wasteful because they indicate improper combustion and consequent loss of heat.

This can be remedied by turning the air shutter on the mixing tube, until the blue flame is established.

Your Gas Burners should light easily, turn off quietly and should not pop. If there is a popping noise, too much air is being admitted and the air shutters should be moved to reduce the opening.

A service man will be sent to adjust burners at your request.

Off The Beaten Path

The real charm of touring lies in leaving the main-travelled highways and exploring the thousands of alluring side-paths. These dirt roads and trails lead to spots of rare beauty unvisited by the throng—where better camp-sites may be found—finer fishing and lovelier scenery.

In a Ford car, you can enjoy the thrill of exploration and discovery. It is the one satisfactory means of travel for these narrow roads—light—yet so powerful that it will bring you through—easy to handle—sturdy and economical.

It will carry the whole family and the saving in cost often pays for the entire vacation.

Demand

IN the early days of the telephone, when the 16-mile circuit from Boston to Salem was the longest in existence, an old lady visited the Boston exchange and asked for a connection to Chicago so she could talk with her son.

The need for voicing thought to far-away places began with the nation's expanding activities. Long before the telephone art permitted it, long distance service was demanded. A national service was, from the beginning, the beacon of the telephone's founders, and the inspiration of the scientists and engineers whose achievements gradually overcame the obstacles to the transmission of human speech.

These conquered, national expansion has more and more been made possible, and the uncertainties of separation have diminished. Today any community in America can talk with any other so promptly and satisfactorily that men have difficulty in imagining a time when universal service was an ideal yet to be reached.

Research Work Big Factor in Ford Plant

The amount of research and experimental work done by the Ford Motor Company is fully in keeping with its size and the scope of its activities. This is vital because every move the company makes in carrying out its manufacturing program is done on such a gigantic scale that all guesswork must be rigidly excluded at the very start, and the facts predetermined in the laboratories on a purely scientific basis. Not only must the company be kept fully abreast of the time, but it is even necessary to anticipate automotive developments from time to time.

So wide is the field of Ford endeavor that purely automotive engineering forms only a part of its scientific program, a highly important one, to be sure, but by no means the only field for research. The tractor and the Lincoln car each has its own experimental program, not only in their development as individual units but from a manufacturing standpoint as well. The mines, the forests, the factories, the fleet, the railroad and all sources of raw material demand places in the laboratory. Constant experimental work with the various substances related to automotive manufacture: fuels, oils, lubricants, rubber, fabric, glass, electrical devices, lamps and everything else pertaining to automobiles is carried on.

The new engineering laboratory at Dearborn has been completely equipped to handle the bulk of the company's scientific work. Every factory in the Ford industrial system has its laboratories where routine testing and even special research are carried on, but Dearborn is the hub of the Ford experimental wheel.

Any detailed description would read like pages from a catalogue of scientific apparatus. There is nothing lacking. In fact the laboratory is prepared to make its own apparatus if necessary, for it maintains a magnificently equipped shop capable of building anything from a spark plug or an innertube to a locomotive or airplane. Some of Mr. Edsel Ford's famous motor boats have been built there.

LOCAL MAN SPEAKER AT BURLINGAME CLUB

Peninsula development and the amazing increase in property values through this section of the bay region were discussed Tuesday before the Burlingame-San Mateo Exchange Club by C. H. Holt, president of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce.

Holt pointed out various features of the peninsula's marvelous growth and quoted statistics to prove his points in recounting the almost unbelieveable rise in property values.

He called the attention of the Exchangeites to the fact that the Dumbarton bridge across the San Francisco bay from Redwood City to Hayward is rapidly nearing completion and that within the next few weeks that great engineering feat will have been accomplished.

That the great crowds of people from the Oakland side of the bay and from the San Joaquin valley coming to the football classic between Stanford and California universities at the Stanford bowl this fall will come to Palo Alto by way of the Dumbarton bridge, was another point made in Holt's address.—Burlingame Advance.

Popularity of Pear on Steady Increase

Pears are now a year-round fruit in the market and growing slowly in favor as a fresh fruit, while their popularity as a canned fruit for use in various desserts is increasing steadily. The pear has an interesting history, as it invaded the United States from the northeast and southwest corners of the country in the days of the early settlers, a bulletin of the American Pomological society says.

The colonies from England brought it here in prerevolutionary times, while the missionaries, moving from Mexico into California, took their pear trees with them, and pears were a popular fruit and sold to the '49ers during the gold rush which opened California. These pears came from trees in the old mission gardens. These old trees grafted with modern European and American varieties gave California its first taste of the popular eastern varieties.

A single variety, the Bartlett, gave California four-fifths of its pear products.

The Kieffer pear originally was a seedling of the Chinese sand pear crossed, it is believed, with the Bartlett, by Peter Kieffer, a Pennsylvania nurseryman, and first exhibited at the centennial exhibition in Philadelphia in 1876. After these early beginnings a number of French varieties have come into popularity.

A peculiar feature of the pear is that many varieties are not self-fertile and require other trees near them to produce fruit. Both the Bartlett and Kieffer are in this class, although their self-sterility varies in different localities, in some of which a lone tree of either variety will not produce, or produce very sparingly.

The Bartlett came to us from Europe, where it is known as the Bonchretien, literally translated good Christian.

Wheeler in Statuary Hall

Gen. Joseph Wheeler—"Little Joe," the husky Rough Riders in the Cuban campaign called him—is Alabama's choice for her long vacant pedestal in Statuary hall in the Capitol at Washington, says the Providence Journal.

Wheeler was not a native son of the state that has honored him by placing his effigy in what has been flippantly styled "the national chamber of horrors." But upon resigning his commission in the army to give his sword to the Confederacy he became colonel of an Alabama regiment and that state was his home when he volunteered for the Spanish war. By 1898 he was gray bearded and too frail looking for a cavalryman, but stood up under the hardships of the Cuban campaign with a soldierly vigor that won the admiration of the little army and the envy of brother officers.

With General Wheeler in Statuary hall 22 states have filled their quota of two distinguished dead each. Interest in this American Valhalla has been lacking for a good many years, so that it is filling slowly. Nineteen states are not represented at all.

Menhaden Fish Defended

Menhaden fish, the oil from which has many commercial uses, is also an excellent food fish though as yet unpopular because of its great number of bones. Food experts, however, are overcoming this by grinding the fish, bones and all, so as to make a fish meal or powder, in which form it can be converted into cakes and eaten easily.

CHINA AS A NATION HAS LONG HISTORY

Records Date Back More Than 100,000 Years.

The history of the Chinese is certainly interesting. At what period they first settled the country that they now occupy is not known with any certainty, but their traditions give them an antiquity of more than 100,000 years prior to their half-authentic history which goes back fifty-five centuries or more. So the Chinese were living in the valleys of the Hwang-ho and Yang-tze rivers long before the last extension of the polar caps.

At first they probably lived in caves along the river banks, spreading gradually along the banks of the tributaries and thus the people of the two rivers would have met and blended into one nation. Living on the rivers, the Chinese would have learned the art of navigation early, and large sailing canoes in all probability were cruising up and down the rivers and coasts of China and making voyages to Korea, and perhaps Japan, as early as 50,000 or 60,000 years ago. At that time many animals that are now extinct were living. Chinese history, though it dates back upward of 5,500 years, is not much to be depended upon till some ten centuries later, for like all ancient peoples, their early history is, of course, purely mythical.

Among the many discoveries and inventions of the Chinese might be mentioned the discovery of the seasons of the year, during the reign of the emperor (or hoang, as the Chinese called their ruler) Fuh-hi, who, it is said, also taught his people how to raise cattle, and writing and introduced marriage among them. Fuh-hi reigned about 4,800 years ago. He was succeeded by Shin-nung during whose reign medicine was first made and agricultural tools were improved. Before 2357 B. C. waterclocks, wheeled vehicles, improved weapons, musical instruments, and junks had been invented, and polygamy and schools had been established. The Emperor Yau built roads and canals. The compass was invented in 1115 B. C. and engraving in 1000 B. C. and gunpowder, firepots, firecrackers, which they used extensively at celebrations, etc., and also in battle to frighten horses, etc., and repeating crossbows and printing, etc.

As is well known, the great wall of China is the greatest defensive work ever erected by man. It is probable that if the wall was lit up by powerful searchlights from one end to the other, the lights would be visible to the inhabitants of Mars, presuming, of course, that there are intelligent beings on that planet. The Chinese did not invent guns or cannon of any kind; cannon were invented by the Arabs in the Twelfth century, though a doubtful authority claims they were used at the siege of Belgrade in 1073 of the present era. The Mohammedans, however, used cannon in India in 1200 and Genghis Khan had artillery at the siege of Tsaichew, China, and it is also said that he had cannon at the storming of Yenking, now Peking, China, in 1215, but this is doubtful. Though the Chinese did not invent either guns or cannon of any kind, they nevertheless were the first people to propel missiles with gunpowder, for during the reign of the Emperor Fai-tsu, in 969 of the present era, the Chinese attached rockets to their arrows, both to make them go farther and for incendiary purposes, so the idea of artillery, as well as the invention of gunpowder, is justly due to them.—Adventure Magazine.

WHAT TO SERVE AT CHILDREN'S PARTIES

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Children's parties present special problems because they give the mother the responsibility for feeding other people's children. One danger connected with such occasions, that of overeating, will be lessened if the refreshments are served at such a time as to take the place of one of the regular meals of the day. The same care should be taken in selecting foods as in the case of the ordinary meals. No hard, tough, rich, or highly seasoned foods should be served. Cocoa or some other milk drink; sandwiches; ice cream or a gelatin dessert; plain, frosted cake; and simple candies make a good bill of fare. In general, the United States Department of Agriculture suggests, diverting the attention of the children, as far as possible, from the foods themselves, by making the table attractive and by serving simple food materials in unusual ways and forms, is best.

MOVABLE DRAIN BOARD SOLVES PROBLEM

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In kitchens without running water it is sometimes a problem to dispose of the dishwater after every meale without having to carry several heavy dishpanfuls out to some out-of-doors drain. A woman in Albermarle county, Virginia, who was anxious to make her kitchen more convenient, solved the question, according to a report received by the United States Department of Agriculture, by getting her husband to make her a movable drain board with a hinged support at the lower end. This drain board had a band about two inches high running around three sides to prevent water from being spilled about the kitchen. It hung by a large hook on the kitchen wall when not in use. When it was time to do the dishes, this housekeeper set up the drain board with one end on the table, the other end resting on the hinged leg, the whole sloping toward a tall tin coffee drum which received the water. When the dishwashing was over, the water was removed in one trip out of the kitchen, usually by one of the boys in the family, and the drain board was hung on the wall again.

Tree Hides Weapons

A revolver and a steel trap were found inside a tree when it was cut down near Norborne, Md., recently. The weapons evidently had been placed at the base of the tree years ago and it grew around them.

Vital Question

"I want a girl who will love me for myself alone." "What do you mean by that ling of patter?" demanded the damsel addressed. "That you are never gonna spend any money on her?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Hot Weather Desserts Easy To Make

During these hot summer days, when you don't want to spend any more time in the kitchen than is absolutely necessary, here is a dessert which is as easy to make as it is good to eat—and that's saying a lot.

Take a can of fruit—pineappel, peaches, apricots, berries, or any other kind—and pack it in a pail between equal layers of chopped ice and course salt. Allow it to remain there for three hours. Then remove the can from the freezing mixture and open it, cutting around the side closely under the top. The cylinder of frozen fruit may then be turned out. Serve in slices. In order to make sure that it is frozen, and the fruit will come out of the can in a perfect cylinder, it is advisable to dip the can in hot water for a few moments and then punch a hole in the bottom of the can before the top is removed.

Another tempting summer dish is fruit soup. This is made of the juice of crushed strawberries or raspberries. Add to the juice an equal amount of water and bring to the boiling point. To every two cups of the liquid add one teaspoonful of cornstarch, dissolved in a little water. Boil a few minutes and add just enough sugar to keep the juice from being too sour. Strain through a seive and place on ice until it becomes thoroughly chilled. This may be served either in the place of a fruit cocktail at the beginning of the meal, or as a dessert.

Quicksand Formation

Quicksand is loose sand into which solid bodies readily sink. Quicksands are composed of very small rounded particles which, under ordinary pressure, do not pack together, and, when molstened, behave like a fluid. They are especially common in glacial deposits and may be encountered almost anywhere within the region invaded by the continental ice sheet.

There You Have It

Legal Phrase

Doctor Vizetelly says of the word "personality": "It is sometimes considered to mean articles of personal adornment. It does not. It is a legal term now in contradistinction to realty and includes all movables as money, personal property of any kind whatever, as household goods; chattels, real and personal; things movable as distinguished from realty or landed property.

Cleaning Without Odor by the

F. Thomas Process

Our many years of experience has taught us that it is impossible to do perfect cleaning with cheap, inferior methods. That is why we found it necessary to invest nearly $500,000 in the equipment of a plant and the establishment of an expert organization to do the quality of work demanded bp our customers.

With the "F. Thomas Process" we not only remove every particle of dust but we return your garments without that usual disagreeable smell of gasoline. Every drop of gasoline we use in cleaning is redistilled and very highly refined.

Raw gasoline—the kind that you buy for your automobile—is full of heavy oils and unfit for cleaning fabrics. t is little better than ordinary distillate and leaves a sickening gasoline smell in your clothes.

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

Guy Lagie and Clarence Henshel returned from a deer hunting trip to Half Moon Bay yesterday. They shot a buck, but the animal got away from them into a gulch. No doubt the young men were taken with "buck fever" when they shot the deer.

Albert Kurtz is a very happy young man having yesterday received notice from Stanford that he had matriculated in the institution. He will major in psychology. Young Kurtz spent three years at the state university and will finish his course at Stanford. He is a bright and clever young man.

Patrick Fleming, husband of Adelia Madden Fleming, a pioneer school teacher of San Mateo county, passed away at his home in San Francisco August 6 at the age of 71 years. For many years he was a member of the San Francisco police department, and some time ago was retired on a pension. Mrs. Fleming was formerly Miss Adelia Madden and for a number of years taught in the local school department.

J. B. Kelly and family have returned from a vacation spent at Capitola. They leased an apartment, where they entertained their friends and enjoyed the beauties of the seashore for three weeks.

Captain C. E. Whitaker, chief of the Menlo Park Fire Department, has been elected a delegate to the State Firemen's Association which convenes at Sacramento on August 21. Mr. Whitaker is one of the best informed firemen in the state, having served through all the grades of the fire department of San Francisco, until he reached a captaincy. He has been head of the department here for the past five years.

With proper care, plenty of irrigation and cultivation, the best fruit in the state may be grown in Menlo Park. Peaches grown in the orchard of J. J. Harcom near Menlo Park and exhibited this week can not be excelled anywhere both for flavor and size. Nearly all fruits will reach perfection here with the required attention.

Lester Wolf and Mrs. George Peterson have returned from a trip to Canada, where they visited their old home and had an enjoyable time.

B. Scanlan sold his property on the highway consisting of two lots yesterday, making a clean-up of $1,500 in a little less than a year. A Now is the time to invest in Menlo Menjo Park property now will return rich rewards in a short time. Now i sthe time to invest in Menlo Park realty.

Mrs. O. E. Denhard left yesterday for her home in San Francisco after a visit in Menlo Park with her sister, Miss Meta Kugeler.

Society is preparing for a gala charity event on August 22, when Mrs. Robert Moore of Menlo Park will give over her attractive gardens to an al fresco play and a tea to benefit the building fund of the Stanford Children's Convalescent Home.

Young people from Stanford University are rehearsing a performance of "The Romancers" to present before the garden-party audience, and the boxes for the play have already been disposed of. A number of San Franciscans, as well as the peninsula group, will attend the fete. The Bohemian Club trio will present a program of songs, and there are other entertainment features under way for the colorful gardn benefit.

Among those who will assist Mrs. Moore at receiving the guests and dispensing tea and in other ways making the afternoon a pleasant one are: Mesdames A. G. C. Hahn, H. C. Fisher, Eli Weil, John Sutton, George Forderer, A. G. Roth, Charles Shurtleff, Newell Bullock, Charles Bransten, Timothy Hopkins, Harold Faber, Charles Dunphy, Douglas McBryde, Ira Lillick, Walter Morrison, James Sharp, Henry Parker, William B. Weir; the Misses Olga Meyer, Ida Wehner, Emma Rosenbaum, Elsie Drexler.

Edward Reiter, wife and son, Joseph, will leave on September 1st for a pilgrimage to Rome to be gone 3 months. This will be the last pilgrimage to the Eternal City this year. The Reiters will join a large party that leaves San Francisco Among the party will be Archbishop E. J. Hanna.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Reynard and Mrs. Henry Smith entertained the Companions' Card Club Tuesday evening at their home.

O tempora, O mores; O the times, O the manners. According to the newspaper report of the proposed new time schedule of the Southern Pacific Company to go into effect on September 5, Menlo Park is left out entirely so far as the new trains are concerned. It was always thus. When the late Senator Stanford boarded trains here every car stopped in Menlo Park and its needs were the first to be considered. However, we are not finding fault for the service given Menlo Park is excellent and the very best that could be expected. Only just a reminder of other days.

Miss Bertha Kuck and her nephew and neice are enjoying a vacation at Santa Cruz.

J. Arata, remembered here thirty years ago as the pioneer vegetable man. All old timers knew and liked him. He passed away at Stockton last week. Many years ago he went to that place and bought property cheap. He left a large estate. All will remember him for his kindness and consideration. Housewives liked and admired him.

L. Olsen, health officer of Palo Alto and W. Thompson, milk inspector of the same place, guided a party of pretty nurses from San Francisco through the plant of the Home Dairy at Ravenswood on Wednesday evening showing the intricacies of the marvelous institution which furnishes certified milk to all the San Jose grammar schools. The girls were astounded at the cleanliness of the place and the modern methods in producing pure and unadulterated milk to be used by children and others. M... Piers accompanied the party in the tour of inspection.

John Glunz and family have returned from a pleasant vacation spent in the Santa Cruz mountains.

Menlo Parlor N. S. G. W. installed officers for the term Monday night. A large number of pretty daughters were present from other gay parlors, particularly from Bonita Parlor, Redwood City. REAL ESTATE SHOWS INCREASED ACTIVITY

Local real estate men are much encouraged by the renewed activity in real estate during the past thirty days and feel that there is to be a big stir in selling during the coming months. Lambert & Walter report large sales during the past ten days. They have sold 158 acres of the Phelps Estate east of the highway to a client, a San Francisco busines man for inudstrial purposes, for $55,000. They also report the sale of the P. J. Gassibert beautiful home on the corner of Edgewood Road and Ashley avenue to C. F. Conklin of San Francisco for $14,000 cash He also bought the adjoining property consisting of an orchard belonging to Dr. Marvin for $3,000.

The attractive home and eight acres of land highly improved belonging to Joseph Litchfield at Woodside they have also sold to a client in San Francisco for $17,000 cash. Much activity in choice holdings is manifest in Woodside and vicinity. Two fine residences to cost $20,000 each are being erected on the Huddart seven-acre tract by Dr. A. Weeks and Herbert Gallager. This property is opposite the beautiful Dr. Whittell estate. Other large homes will be soon erected there.
